

Short Biography

The Tame and the Wild

The Tame and the Wild is the nostalgic-indie-folk band around the singer-songwriter duo Seja Katharina Rockel and Flëpp Wenger.

Its music drives with vocals exploring human emotions among the natural world, sea and stars, youth and age, resiliency and love, boldness and resignation, honesty and memory. The songs urge one to touch those personal situations that are set in and often so tightly bound to nature. The sound is layered in sonic detail combining melodic lyricism with expansive instrumental sections. It seeks to soothe and move you.

The Tame and the Wild played its first shows in 2015. You'll find a selection of past shows below.

After a babybreak and some line-up changing in 2016, the band is now working on a series of ten inch vinyls, with always two studio tracks on the A-Side and two live tracks on the B-Side.

Seja and Flëpp love both sides, live on stage and the more creative studio time. That's why they want to share these different worlds with the audience, bundled on one twenty minutes long vinyl.

The studio tracks were recorded and produced by Jens-Peter Abele at Tonetemple Studios, Unterensingen, Germany and in the home studio of Seja & Flëpp.

The live tracks are recorded by Tom Gatti during a live session at the Vagabond Barr in Dudelange, Luxembourg. You'll find the videos of this session made by Thomas Beaujean on YouTube under « The Vagabond Sessions ».

The first EP of this series was released at the end of October 2017 in Colpach-Bas.

The couple plays as duo, with full band line-up, or a stripped-down set.
